

Making Relocation Easy: For a Transferee

"I'd love to take the job, but what will my spouse do? How will I be able to get everything done within the next 45 days? I'm not sure it will be worth the hassle." (West coast candidate for East coast managerial position)

Guiding and Coordinating Every Aspect of a Transferee's Move

To X, a successful relocation means making sure a transferee's move proceeds smoothly—from listing the home to arranging temporary and permanent housing, and from finding the right daycare to making sure the van line arrives on Wednesday as planned. X Relocation acts as a relocation response team, making sure a transferee reaches his or her destination with as little stress as possible, and with minimal administrative intervention by human resources. Our services include:

Departure Services

- ▼ X Relocation carefully selects a relocation-trained agent from our nationwide broker network. The agent performs a market analysis, and guides a transferee through presale preparations, listing and closing. Also, because we at X are selective about the agents we use, your transferee can count on personal, attentive service, rapid turnaround and market price.

Destination Services

- ▼ X selects a suitable agent to help your transferee locate a new home in the destination area. Our agents take the time to help a transferee explore options and make comfortable choices, resulting in a satisfying relocation experience.

Van Line and Temporary Housing Coordination

- ▼ From obtaining van line quotes and scheduling appointments, to making sure the truck arrives on time and dealing with claims, X Relocation attends to the details of moving your transferee's goods domestically and internationally. We also arrange and coordinate discounted temporary housing suitable to the transferee.

Community Information and Area Tours

- ▼ Which neighborhood is best? Where are the best schools for my child? How far will I have to commute? Your transferee's professional relocation counselor and a carefully selected relocation-trained agent will gladly answer a transferee's questions, and welcome them with an area tour upon arrival.

Relocation is part art, part science. Any firm can master the science. But X has mastered the art: taking care of the people involved. (Name Here)

“For HR professionals, taking the stress out of relocations means a transferee can quickly be settled into the new position and the new home—and more productive on the job.” (-HR Magazine)

Are You in the HR Business? Or the Relocation Business?

As an HR professional, you plow through a complex maze of internal issues every day, relocation being just one of them. And while overseeing and coordinating the details involved in moving a transferee from one city to another is important; it is also time-consuming and tedious. Yet those details often make a substantial difference in a transferee’s satisfaction and a company’s overall offer acceptance rate. X Relocation lets you delegate all or some of the relocation process—even the tedious details. When you partner with X, you:

Realize Substantial Relocation Cost Savings

- ▼ Why pay more? X offers complimentary corporate relocation services. We earn our fee when a transferee buys or sells a home.
- ▼ Save up to 65% by accessing our negotiated discounts with major van lines, temporary housing providers and real estate industry professionals.

Give Transferees the Assistance They Need

- ▼ X Relocation assigns a professional relocation counselor to each transferee. This counselor is readily available to answer a transferee’s policy questions, to provide moving and community information and to coordinate the relocation from start to finish.

Free Up Time to Focus on HR Issues

- ▼ No more playing real estate agent. No more calling van lines for price quotes. No more phone calls from a transferee asking about local school statistics. Instead, a transferee contacts X directly. Our process keeps you in the loop while relieving you of the tedious details.

Which would you rather do to get your transferee from there to here?
Make one call, or 20+ calls?

X Relocation is the answer to time- consuming relocation work.

At X, relocation is our only business. It is a business built upon making relocation easy for both you and your transferee. Our team has spent years building and nurturing relationships with local, national and international contacts that help a transferee move and settle in quickly. We’ve negotiated discounts with vendors to help your company and your transferee save money. And we’ve developed a flexible process that enables you to leave the details to us.
